

6. Abstract of the disclosure

Apparatus for printing, scanning, engraving or cutting a flat horizontal surface, particularly when the surface is of non-standard dimensions or is supplied in a non-standard manner.

The apparatus is suitable for following outside electromechanically commanded instructions and contains an instrument for printing, scanning, engraving or cutting in a stepwise manner by being accurately raised and lowered to the surface and a component for treating the surface.